Rule of thumb

Never type a new hex code in your HTML. Use a variable above or a Bootstrap class, so one edit updates every page.

Components and Bootstrap classes

Which class to use for which job.

Buttons

Offer to deliver

`btn btn-primary`

Hover state

`(hover)`

Default button

`btn btn-outline-dark`

Delete

`btn btn-danger`

btn-success, btn-warning and btn-dark also render as the green button.

Badges (soft pills)

Open Payment held Offer to buy Closed

`badge rounded-pill bg-success bg-opacity-25 text-success` (warning / secondary the same way)

Example of the dark theme

Do and don't

Do	Use Bootstrap classes (btn-primary, text-secondary, bg-success-subtle). They switch to dark automatically.
Do	Keep soft tints for status: badge + bg-opacity-25 + matching text color.
Do	Put white text on green and red only. Use dark text on light fills.
Don't	Do not type hex codes in HTML or style.css. They stay light in dark mode.
Don't	Do not use orange or red accents. Hover and focus are blue.
Don't	Do not use bg-white with text-white together, or bg-dark with text-black.
